Abstract

The speaker seeks to convince the recipient of his speech using (argumentation), and thus basically he has sought to establish a communicative relationship, Through that relationship he can achieve his goal and create influence and persuasion at the other side, Here, they meet deliberately with (argumentation), that is, they meet in search of the relationship between the two parties of the speech, The purpose of establishing that relationship is to make the speech useful, argumentation are a communicative dialogue process that has taken care of persuading the addressee and the circumstances of his speech, We have decided to study the argumentation theory of language based on a communicative linguistic structure, This structure includes language formulas and tools that link parts of the speech and align and harmonize it, among these tools are connections and argumentative factors, and we applied this theory to poetry speech by researchers in argumentation methods and persuasion methods, They wondered what the poet was doing, receiving only one face in the speech.

The nature of the study entailed dividing the message into a preface and two chapters, Each chapter is divided into three detectives, In the preface, we have dealt with issues relating to argumentation and their implications, Chapter I contains the guiding argumentation linkages, Which connects text and consistency to achieve guiding function, To be the first research based on the links of pilgrimage cohesion, The second is the links of pilgrimage conflict, and the third included the links of argumentative reasoning, Chapter two is devoted to the study of argumentative factors that fall within a sentence, The statement was directed towards one of the trajectories that reached the conclusion, we mentioned In the first research the exile factor, In the second research, factor in the limited and the minors The third is entitled Other argumentation Factors.

And the most important findings we have, argumentation give more open and inclusive conclusions, It has the ability to follow the variable and potential.

The semi-logical Linguistic argumentative is a language indicator that refers to the argumentative value of the say, i it was overpowered in the poetry's of abu Firas al-Hamdany.

The reasoning links are introduced into the semi-logical Linguistic argumentative, and at the same time they are purely language tools, that is tolerance of both.
