ABSTRACT

This study is considered very good, but some consider it a good example of duality, and some consider it an example of duality, and that he is a multi-talented personality in interpreting visions, incantation and stages. Intellectual, religious and other writings.

Due to the importance of the topic and the lack of information regarding the message, this study comes in the context of the efforts of other researchers who wrote in this field, to shed light on a number of scholars of the city of Mosul, within the framework of the title of the letter tagged with (Mahfouz Al-Abbasi 1924-2010 AD - a historical study-), and this What we will see in the pages of the message.

This character is the first study that no one has written about in detail. The reasons that prompted me to write about this character, foremost among which was my desire to revive the heritage of the hunchbacked scholars of Mosul, and my love to show the biography of the scholars and personalities of the city of Mosul al-Hadba in front of the students of science to be an example for them. Loyalty to the scholars and recognition of their merit, notably the scholars of our city, Mosul.

Our study came to Mahfouz Al-Abbasi as one of the divine scholars who linked between science and work and combined the house of fatwa and piety and devoted his life to communicating the honorable law, serving Muslims and teaching students of knowledge, and his effort in that is not hidden, so it was natural to get acquainted with his methods in the legal sciences and to explain his scientific style in his writings.

Among the difficulties that I encountered, which is not hidden, is that no work is devoid of difficulties that it contains, and obstacles that it encounters. What I suffered throughout the duration of the research and the scattering and lack of information when talking about the life of the sheikh - may God have mercy on him - and the unavailability of the sheikh's books in bookstores that sell books, as most of them were printed in one edition and were not printed again.
