Abstract

Studies that shed light on families and tribes are considered one of the most important historical studies, as through these studies we are able to know the conditions of those families and tribes, the roles that they performed and the effects that they had on the course of historical events. Therefore, my choice came to the topic tagged "Al-Abi Waqas Al-Zahri and their role in early Islam "Since the family of Abi Waqas Al-Zuhri was one of the families that had a great influence on the course of historical events, and that influence was clearly visible since the Prophet, the Rashidun, and extending to the Umayyad era. They also had a great position with the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace. Because they are his maternal uncles, Zahra bin Kalab, to whom the lineage of the family of Abi Waqas is attributed, is the grandfather of the mother of the Prophet, may God's prayers and peace be upon him, Amna bint Wahb. However, after that they embraced Islam and became Muslim.

The efforts of the Abu Waqas family continued in the Rashidun era on various aspects, as they had good and good relations with the Rightly Guided Caliphs, may God be pleased with them, especially with Caliph Omar bin Al-Khattab, may God be pleased with him, in Fattuh Iraq, as they stood by the Caliph Ali bin Abi Talib, may God be pleased with him in His struggle and war with Caliph Muawiya bin Abi Sufyan, may God be pleased with him, in two rows, as well as from them who supported Yazid bin Muawiya in his war for Hussein bin Ali, may God be pleased with them.

As for the relationship of the family of Abi Waqas al-Zuhri with the Umayyad caliphs, it fluctuated between support and opposition according to what was imposed by historical events and as required by personal interests.

The study on the family of Abi Waqas al-Zuhri is one of the studies that appeal to researchers and academics, and its purpose is to show the bright side of this family, which has had an effective role in Islamic history, in addition to that this research will provide the Arab Islamic Library with what it has discussed of important topics during the study period, despite Although there are a number of members of this family, some studies and research have been written about them, but we did not find a comprehensive study of the history of this family in an integrated and comprehensive manner, and this was one of the most important reasons that led us to choose this topic and search in the book binary in order to present an integrated and clear picture as possible about The history of this family.
