Abstract

Many studies dealt with the cultural and political aspects in the history of Andalus. These studies showed many facts and important events occurred in this Moslem country. The researchers made constant efforts to study the history of that period, analytically and critically. But, other aspects has not been completely studied. Such aspects need to be academically studied and analyzed to demonstrate their various features in a proper scientific way. The reason of absence of such aspects of studies is the shortage of historical texts that talks about these aspects in comparison with the texts related to the historical periods of Andalus in general. So, researchers should make additional efforts to find out and analyze these texts to achieve the aim of scientific and historical research. This led us to choose this subject, “Supporters of the Omaids and their role in the history of Andalus Abi Abda's Family as example (92-462 A.H./711-1069 A.C.)” . This subject is related to an entire family among many that support the Omaid in Andalus, and could get a significant position by the Omaid authority in Andalus, for the great acts it performed in different political, military and administrative fields.

The historians and researchers did not pay attention to this family. There is no an inclusive study about it.

In the present study, we did not narrate the events only, but we adopted the analytical approach for many historical novels and discussed these novels in order to attain a distinct study of a proper scientific approach.

The present study includes an introduction, a preface, four chapters, conclusion, references and a figure that shows the descent of Abi Abda's Family.

The preface deals with the elements of Andalus society. Chapter one deals with Abi Abda's Family and its political and military roles in establishing the Omaid emirate in Andalus. Chapter two shows the political and military role of Abi Abda's Family during the era of emirate. Chapter three shows the political and military role of Abi Abda's Family in the era of succession till falling the government of Jahoor in Qurtuba (316 -462 A.H./ 928-1069 A.C.). Chapter four demonstrates the administrative role of Abi Abda's Family in Andalus in the eras of emirate and succession (138-422 A.H./ 755-1031 A.C.).

The results of study shows that Abi Abda's Family is one of the faithful families which support the Omaid in Andalus, and it shows the great political and military role of Abi Abda's Family in Andalus, in addition to their efforts in the administrative fields.
